

Beijing Changping Detention Center

北京昌平看守所

Location:

1 Qincheng, Xingshou Town, Changping District, Beijing, 102212

北京市昌平区兴寿镇秦城 1 号

Perpetrators:

高德银 Gao Deyin, Director of Changping Detention Center

Torture Methods:

- Guards forced practitioners to take off all their clothes to search them when they first came to the detention center, as a kind of humiliation;
- The practitioners were forced fed when they went on hunger strike. The plastic tube was inserted into practitioner's nose all the way to the stomach. High-density salt water was fed through the tube. When the tube was taken out, it was covered with blood. Practitioners were still in great pain after the feeding;

- In winter, practitioners were forced to stay outdoor to suffer from the coldness and some were left outside all night. The guards sometimes even pour cold water from their necks into their clothes;
- In summer, practitioners were forced to stay outdoor all night to suffer from the mosquito bites;
- Guards used the lighted cigarette butts to burn practitioners' skin;
- Guards poked practitioners' fingers with needles;

- To prevent practitioners from doing Falun Gong exercise, guards forced practitioners to wear heavy handcuffs and shackles. Practitioners were not able to go to restroom or eat without help.
- Practitioners were handcuffed from the back and hung up;
- Guards used a big plastic bag to cover a practitioner's head thus suffocate him until he was close to lost consciousness. This torture lasted 20 days.
- Guards often beat practitioners, slapped their faces, and shocked them with electric batons.
